Dear ICGI Members,

In the table below you will find our chairs and newly elected co-chairs. I think we had an excellent candidate list and thank all those who have been willing to serve ICGI by running for office. I congratulate our newly elected workgroup co-chairs and encourage our other candidates to continue to seek opportunities to serve. Of course, all our current co-chairs advance to the chair position at the completion of the election. An exception is our overall organizational chair and co-chair. Because our co-chair position is currently vacant, the winner in this election will become chair, and the runner-up will become co-chair. The polling results provided by vote-now.com indicates that our chair will be Andy Paterson and our co-chair will be Tianzhen Zhang. I congratulate both of them.

Finally, as out- going chair, I thank the membership for all the support I have received during my term. I am appreciative and encouraged by the general atmosphere of cooperation and participation I see in our organization. I am sure we all look forward to the research developments in genome sequencing in the next couple of years. I think our new chair will have an exciting tenure.
